Selecting a Behavioral Health Practitioner

The following list provides a brief description for the various kinds of behavioral health professionals. Learn more about South Dakota licensing requirements by visiting the Licensing Boards page at dss.sd.gov for alcohol and drug professionals, counselors, psychologists, and social workers or doh.sd.gov for physicians and nurses.

Some counselors have extra focus on a specific topic such as marriage and family. In the behavioral health setting, counselors can be found providing therapy or case management services.

Selecting a Behavioral Health Practitioner

Choosing among the many options available in behavioral health care can be a confusing task. As with any type of service there are basic questions that can assist you in becoming an informed consumer. Ask yourself these questions:

- * What are the critical issues for which you would like to obtain help and what are the desired results you hope to see?
- * Do you have a preference regarding type of setting (i.e. inpatient, outpatient, group therapy, etc.) or type of therapeutic approach?
- * Is there a particular time of the day or week that would be best for you to arrange an appointment?
- * Is there coverage offered by your insurance, health care plan, or employer that can offset some or all of the cost of treatment?

With this information in mind, select two or three behavioral health practitioners and call for a short phone interview. Briefly describe your issues or goals and ask if the provider is skilled in these areas. Ask a few questions about the provider's background and practices.

- * What therapeutic approaches and techniques does she or he most frequently use?
- * How will therapeutic goals be established?
- * How will you know when therapy is complete?

After talking with a potential practitioner, ask yourself:

- * Did you feel a sense of confidence in this person?
- * Did the practitioner's approach seem to make sense to you?
- * Did you feel comfortable talking with this practitioner?
